

I say Keep the Do Not Call List as is, There is nothing worse than getting a phone solicitation in the middle of Dinner and the person trying to sell some product or service refuses to let you get a word in edge wise and refuses the I'm not interested excuse. Maybe you would enjoy it, but I don't. I guess private numbers don't mean a thing nowadays.